Should Act Promptly.

It is regarded as of great importance that the annexation be consummated before the close of 1914, so that in the assessment of property in the spring of 1915, the city may get the benefit of such increases in value as may accrue. As the annexation of Manchester took place after the assessment of 1910 had been begun, the city is not now getting anything like a fair tax return on the value she has created on the Southside, and the improvements of South Richmond, which are based on a per-centage of revenues from that section are proportionately reduced. Court proceedings in which the city finally won delayed the last general annexation until December 6, 1906, and as a result it was not until the 1910 assess-ment that people in the territory then annexed began to pay taxes based on the actual or salable value of their property.

Jesus the Man.
We proclaim belief in the humanity of Jesus. Not for the sake of denying the traditional belief in his deity, but for the inspiration of the fact itself. We believe that human nature is capable of producing such a man as was Jesus. We do not put him outside the pale of humanity, but we declare that what he was all men may become, upon exactly the same condition—that is, by living in accordance with the laws of living in accordance with the laws of righteousness. — Unitarian Publicity Committee.—Advertisement.
